DAVID E. LEFEBVRE

Program & Event Coordinator
Virginia Center for Inclusive Communities

David E. LeFebvre is Program and Event Coordinator of the Virginia Center for Inclusive Communities, an organization that promotes understanding and respect on all issues of diversity, for all age groups, all across Virginia. In his role, David plans, organizes, and manages human relations programs and events conducted for middle school, high school, college, and adult populations across the Commonwealth. Among his specific responsibilities are the implementation of Humanitarian Awards Dinners, high school and college retreats, and one-day forums on diversity issues.

A graduate of Rockhurst University with majors in Nonprofit Leadership Studies and Communication, David has significant experience in youth development, diversity education, and community engagement. He has worked or volunteered for Nonprofit Connect (formerly the Council on Philanthropy), the Ronald McDonald House Charities, the National 4H Council, and Classic Upward Bound. Since 2003, David has had a relationship with the Virginia Center for Inclusive Communities' affiliate office in Omaha, Nebraska, first as a program participant, and then as an office intern, program counselor, and program advisor.

As an intern for American Humanics, Inc., David planned and executed American Humanics' annual three day conference for over 800 attendees in January 2008. For that work, he was presented with the American Humanics "NextGen Leader" award. He has also been recognized by Rockhurst University with the President's Volunteer Service Silver Award and the Outstanding Community Service Award.
